With wood or coal—waste heat. Too much or too little for best cooking. In hot weather too much heat coming out into the room.

With a good oil-stove—no waste heat or fuel. One burner or four—low flame or high—a slow fire or a hot one. All the convenience of gas for every home, all the year round.

SIGNS OF LIFE IN SWANSEA DISTRICT

To meet the demands of increasing traffic due to improved conditions in the Swansea mining district, application was filed Saturday with the corporation commission by the Arizona and Swansea railroad company for permission to issue gold bonds to the amount of $50,000. Hearing of the application has been set for May 22.

The Arizona and Swansea, which operates a mining road from House to Swansea, 21 miles distant, has for some time been inactive, work at the various mines having been suspended. Recently, however, the mines have been reopened, and development has again begun. The company is now handling six cars of ore every other day, and expects soon to almost double this amount. Funds, the application states, are badly needed to make repairs on the road, as well as to meet obligations of the company.

OH GIRLS! HERE'S SOMETHING NEW

Society Editor in Odd Moments Digs Up Something More for the Poor Girls to Worry About—Standardization, Well?

Good morning girls, have you been standardized?

No. Well, the character standard committee will get you if you don't watch out. A nation-wide movement for the standardization of character of American girls from factory to ballroom is to be made. Not a solitary girl is to escape for several of the nation's leading women are to make a personal investigation into laundries, shops, offices and private homes.

At a recent national convention of the Young Women's Christian Association in Los Angeles, Miss Louise Holmquist diagnosed the case of the girls of the U. S. A. Here are a few causes for worry that the young misses give says she:

"American girls are facing more temptation than ever before.

"The great fault of American girls—the bluff of appearing more than one really is—must be crushed.

"American girls have too highly seasoned appetites.

"Reform cannot be achieved by denying highly seasoned appetites when they do exist, or by shutting one's eyes to feminine vanity as a fixed characteristic.

"Our committee is to study the fundamental causes that contribute to the gradual lessening of personal honesty, that form the temptations, and to secure, if possible, a solution for the problems," declares Miss Holmquist.

Miss Holmquist and a number of other national workers, all very much "live wires" will undertake this committee work by going into every phase of commercial, industrial and home conditions of girls, visiting in factories, stores and homes in different parts of the country. They will rub shoulders with the girls and learn their language before attempting to teach the younger women the new language of the Y. W. C. A.

According to Mrs. E. N. Phillips, general secretary of the local association, who was a delegate to the convention this character standard commission is a new thing, a side issue to be developed. It will not be given a prominent place.

That here is another new idea that is going to be put in practice. Look out it's coming—standardization of domestic service. Mrs. Phillips says one of the most interesting reports given at the convention was that of Miss Elizabeth Dodge, who for two years has served on the commission of domestic service. The side of the servant and the employer were fully discussed. Another line of service, according to the poor working girl, is preferable to house work and the why and wherefore is because a house maid or cook who has little if any freedom, small chance of bettering her position and is looked down upon socially.

Therefore, housekeepers are to get busy and offer a living wage, regular hours, places where girls may receive their friends or cook who are entitled to a right of their own in the home. The Y will provide her amusement.

"Well, mum," replied the hungry man, "if I buy a touring car I shan't have enough left to pay my chauffeur. If I purchase a steam yacht there won't be enough left to defray the cost of manning her. So I guess mum, I'll just get a schooner and handle her myself."—Kansas City Journal.

CASA GRANDE TO HAVE FARM ASS'N

Co-operation of Farmers in That District is Being Enlisted, and Plans for Big Fair and Celebration Are Under Way

Plans are rapidly being matured by the members of the four farm improvement associations in Pinal county for several matters of considerable importance to the farmers. The four farm improvement associations referred to are located at Summerland, Casa Grande, Toltec and Red Rock. The plan which is being developed has several interesting features. On Wednesday evening April 28, some of the details of these plans were quite thoroughly discussed by the members of the Casa Grande Farm Improvement association. The meeting was called to order by President Vance and addresses were made by Professor S. F. Morse, superintendent of the University of Arizona agricultural extension service and state leader, United States department of agriculture, and Dr. C. H. Davis, president of the Toltec Farm Improvement association.

On Monday, May 3, committees representing the four farm improvement associations and the business men of the county met with the county supervisors at Casa Grande to discuss the matter of a bond issue for good roads in Pinal county. This is one of the things which the farmers expect to obtain by means of their organization. In addition to this a big picnic is planned to be held at Casa Grande on the Fourth of July. It is expected that members of all four of the associations will be present and prominent speakers are expected to deliver the addresses. A fair is contemplated in the fall, to be held the week before the Southern Arizona fair at Tucson. It is planned to make this a real agricultural fair with substantial prizes for farm products of all sorts, and it is expected that the showing will astonish many who have not realized the progress which the Casa Grande Valley is making.

The plan of the four associations is to develop the county from the standpoint of all the farmers and not from that of any particular community. In this way it is believed that results will be obtained which have been frequently hindered in other sections of the state by community differences. Plans are being made to grow a sufficient quantity of pink beans and other crops to market them in carload lots this fall and it is now an assured fact that three or four car loads of hogs will be shipped from Casa Grande during the autumn.

NEW AXLES FOR 500 MILE RACE

Head of the Indianapolis Speedway Insists That Iron-clad Rule Will Be Enforced—Resta Dispute Arbitrated

(Special to The Republican)
INDIANAPOLIS, May 16.—(Tele 14 of the Indianapolis motor speedway, specifying that axles on all cars in the next Indianapolis 500-mile race must be new two days before the contest, will be enforced to the letter, says Carl G. Fisher, the speedway president.

It had been brought to Fisher's ears that Dario Resta, star entrant in the race by virtue of his recent dual victory in the Vanderbilt and Grand Prix, had no extra axle for his car, and claimed he couldn't get one made to suit him. Therefore, he would start with his old axle or not at all.

Fisher, while firm on the point of not permitting Resta to violate a speedway rule, which, he stated, was known a year ago, and therefore left no excuse for infringement, suggested that a way out of the difficulty would be for Resta not to use his car in practice, but to get accustomed to the course in his old Vanderbilt and Grand Prix racer.

This scheme appealed to Resta, so that the trouble was settled in an amicable manner. Resta's 500-mile race car, incidentally, is brand new, having been built for the last French Grand Prix, but never used in that contest.

Bookmakers are already getting out their slates, advance bets being posted not only as to who will win the race, but who will start the contest.

Odds are being laid at ten to one that all European cars will qualify, in which event they are expected to rule at better than even money against the field, numbering nine out of thirty-three starters. The European cars involved are J. De Palma's Delage, R. De Palma's Mercedes, Resta's Peugeot and two others, the Sunbeams, with Chassagne, Porporato, Grant and Limberg, and Oldfield's Bugatti.

Jean Chassagne and J. Porporato, Sunbeam entrants in the race, have sailed for the United States to arrive in time for the elimination trials May 20, 21 and 22.

Louis Coatalen, chief engineer of the Sunbeam company, who was originally scheduled to drive, couldn't get away, as the Sunbeam factory is swamped with orders for war material that will occupy his entire time for months to come.

CUP DEFENDERS TO RACE THIS SUMMER

Although there is no possibility of the international yacht races for the America's cup being held this summer, the announcement that the two cup defense candidates, Resolute and Vanitie, will compete in a number of regattas along the Atlantic coast will undoubtedly add zest to the coming yachting season. These two cup candidates sailed a long series of extremely interesting trial races last summer and each had a strong following of yachtsmen when the opening of the European war called a halt in the preparations for the defense of the America's cup.

These yachts, together with the Defiance, sold for the metal she contained early in January, formed the trio built for the purpose of defending the America's cup against Shamrock IV. Sir Thomas Lipton's challenger. The Defiance proved to be unfitted for the task for which she was built and after a career of less than a year was sold for about $6,500, although her total cost to the Tri-City syndicate which financed her building was more than $100,000.

Vanitie and Resolute were more satisfactory, showing excellent speed and sailing qualities in the 1914 trial races.

Between June 2 and August 1 these two yachts sailed a series of twenty races off Sandy Hook, Newport and in Long Island Sound. Defiance also competed several times, her best showing being second place in four races. The winning single staker was always Resolute or Vanitie, however, and a continuation of last year's aquatic duels should prove a feature of the 1915 yachting season. During the trial regattas last summer the Resolute won fifteen firsts and two seconds; Vanitie five firsts, fourteen seconds, and one third; Defiance four seconds and three thirds. The Resolute sailed 471 miles in winning first place fifteen times, her total corrected time for this distance being 67 hours, 21 minutes, 25 seconds. Vanitie sailed 156½ miles in 23 hours, 32 minutes and 46 seconds in her five winning races.

IRELAND AND THE WAR

When Parliament reassembles some members ought to ask why Dublin Castle forbids members of the Royal Irish Constabulary to volunteer for the army. Except to keep alive the obsolete idea that Ireland is a land of crime and rebellion, there is no need now for this semi-military force of 13,000 men to be maintained at full strength. As everybody knows, their personnel is exceptionally fine, and their training is much more like the army than the ordinary police training is. Volunteers from their ranks would make admirable non-commissioned officers in the new armies, and many would be forthcoming if they were allowed.—London Chronicle.
